

WOMAN KILLED BY INFERNAL MACHINE

Stenographer Innocent Victim of Plot to Wreak Vengeance
Upon Her Employer

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
New York, December 12.—Miss Ida Anusewitz, the eighteen-year-old stenographer for William H. Callahan, president of the O. K. Bottling Company, was killed to-day by the explosion of an infernal machine that had just been delivered to her in this city by an expressman.

Miss Anusewitz, who lived with her parents, at No. 153 Suffolk Street, was apparently an innocent victim to a fiendish plot to wreak vengeance upon

So far the police have established no positive theory beyond this, although Deputy Commissioner Dougherty has scores of detectives investigating clues that he admits may ultimately lead to the man who planted the bomb. The package was delivered to the American Express office, at No. 151 Bowery, at 2 P. M. Thursday, and that the clerk, Moe Andrews, remembers that the sender was evidently an Italian.

when he heard Andrew's story. One of these, known to the firm only as "John," left the employ of the bottling plant last Saturday. He had been there as a bottler for six months, but Frank Fero, superintendent of this branch of the work, instructed him to shovel some coal. John protested, saying he disliked coal dust and was told by Fero that he knew what he could do. He then walked out the place.

Four other former employees, discharged recently from their work as helpers on wagons because of cold weather bringing less business are also being investigated. Other detectives are looking up a man who recently brought suit for injuries sustained when a syphon from the company exploded. This man lost his civil suit.
Still other inquiries are being made concerning the possibilities of a former office assistant being responsible

DRAMATIC STORY
TOLD BY FAUROT

Inspector to Whom Schmid Confessed Re-Enacts Scene in Court.

Naurot, it was Naurot who arrested Schmidt, and to him the first time priest told the story of his crime.

Naurot, with dramatic gesture and word, re-enacted the scene of the confession. From the prisoner's dock, Schmidt viewed the procedure with unchanged stolidity.

"I lapped Schmidt on the back," said the inspector, "and said: 'Come now, tell us the whole truth.' Schmidt hesitated for a moment."

"Father Quinn, who was with me asked: 'Are you a regularly ordained priest of God?' and Schmidt replied: 'I was ordained by St. Elizabeth'."

Instead of swearing the State's attorneys, who were expected to testify today, Assistant District Attorney Stevenson, called Dr. Arnold G. Leo, of this

"On September 4, two days after the murder," said the doctor, "he called at my office and asked that a V-shaped wound on his right hand be treated. He said he had an accident."

OFFICERS OF ASSOCIATION CHOSEN.

North Carolina Names Football and Track Managers for Coming Year.

Chapel Hill, N. C., December 12.—College politics was in the saddle at the university to-night. The officers within the control of the athletic association were named. Those chosen were: Vice-president of athletic association, M. R. Dunningan, of Winston-Salem.

Blair, assistant football manager of the team; J. M. Haskie, of Fayetteville, and F. W. Norris, of Florida; assistant manager of the team; Zack Whitaker, of Oakridge; associate editors of the Tarheel, D. H. Killifer, of Florida, and M. Daniel Lewis, of Kingston. The association hinted at suggestions looking to the adoption of the Australian ballot system in future elections.

Bristol, Dec. 1.—December 12—Disregarding the old sailors' superstition, attaching ill-luck to Friday, builders of the Vanderbilt syndicate yacht, to be a candidate for defense of the America's cup, cast her keel today. The cast is believed to have been successful, and to-night 124,099 pounds of lead were cooling within the molding frame. By Monday it is expected the metal will have cooled sufficiently to permit smoothing.
